Our Superintendent

Before we begin our journey through the school years with their highlights we'd like to introduce our superintendent and friend, Mr. J. S. Barrington.

Mr. Barrington came to New Washington as our superintendent in 1936. During the period when the school lacked a sufficient number of teachers he taught science and citizenship. Under his supervision a representative group of the student body was organized and known as the student council.

Cheerful, teasing, and bursting with smiles, Mr. Barrington easily wins the respect and love of all the students. Now and then we catch a glimpse of a sterner expression, but even when things go wrong he somehow manages to remain calm and tolerates us.

As seniors we wish to thank Mr. Barrington for the countless kindnesses and helpful advice received from him which have and will help to keep us steady on our road through life.

It was a memorable day early in September, 1944, when thirty-six eager students gathered at school to enroll in the College of Knowledge as freshmen. Much overwhelmed by the superiority of the upper-classmen, the seniors, we made our grand entrance at initiation appareled in burlap sacks and green ribbons tied 'round our toes. Our class acted as a body for the first time when we chose Mrs. Maxine Fry, class sponsor; Iola Schafstall, president; Marilyn Niedermier, vice president; Virginia Suver, secretary; Mary Dow, treasurer; and Allan Weithman and Mary Eckstein, student council representatives.

Our sophomore year opened with all the old members back and with one new member, Delma Weir. Helena Kreim was chosen to lead the class throughout the year with Mary Alice Schill, vice-president; Annabel Niedermier, secretary; Genevieve Tobin, treasurer; Virginia Suver and Eddie Weithman, student council representatives. We were pleased that one of our girls, Virginia Suver, was elected by the student body to represent Dutchtown as candidate for Corn Queen. A few boys were on the reserve basketball team; namely, Eddie Weithman, Carl Kehres, John Barnhart, and Robert Springer.

As we became upper-classmen we added one new member, Harold Osborn. Of course the boys were very happy to welcome Harold as they were greatly outnumbered by the girls. The class officers elected were Robert Springer, president; Harold Osborn, vice-president; Mary Eckstein, secretary-treasurer; Alice Kehres and John Barnhart, student council representatives. We started our activities by presenting the play "Aunt Susie Shoots the Works" on November 15. In the spring Miss Loyer accompanied a group of us to Cleveland to see the opera "Aida." Next in line came the excitement of preparing a banquet for the seniors. A Spanish theme was carried out in our decorations, program, and menu.

In the fall of 1947 we came back to school as seniors—and to the busiest year of all. Among our activities were the publishing of this Ne-Wa-Hi, initiating the freshmen, sponsoring a round dance, and presenting the play "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn." We chose green and white for our class colors and the pink carnation for our class flower.

Now that we are ready for life outside the school room we will ever keep in mind our motto: "The elevator to success is not running, take the stairs."

CLASS PROPHECY

It was a bright summer day—an ideal day to do something of interest. Why not create a sensation by using that magic carpet I have and have never bothered to try out? Running quickly into the house I rummaged in the closet and after minutes (a good many) I finally found it.

I climbed out onto the roof just so that I might give it a fair chance to show what it was worth.

Let's see—Where should I go? Why not let the carpet take me where it would?

I climbed on the carpet and settled myself comfortably for the ride ahead of me. Having repeated the magic words, I was much astounded when I soared into the air. After what seemed like seconds I found that we were going to Earth.

After a very undignified three-point landing (the carpet apparently isn't trained in etiquette) I picked myself up and found that I was near a ball park. Why not go in and see what was going on?

As I sat and watched I saw that Patty Pauly was in the pitcher's box and was John yelling from the sidelines giving his team the works. John Barnhart, I found out later, was the coach of the best women's team in America. Nice going, John!

Since my carpet was getting anxious to move on we again soared into the air. This time we stopped before a laboratory where, when I went in, I found the chief chemist to be none other than Lois Yanka. She invited me to watch while she finished up a new experiment. But disaster was lurking and before we knew what had happened we were in a quiet hospital room suffering from shock and burn. However, it was just like a reunion for there were Joan Cleland, Ginny Suver, Mary Ellen Karl, Virginia Bechtel, and Marcella Wechter as nurses, and Marilyn Niedermier was the head nurse. Fern Ehresman, who had been interested in nursing, was the switchboard operator. With friends like that around I knew it wouldn't be long before we would be up and out.

One day I was indeed surprised when Genevieve Tobin came to visit me. The opera company for which she was working was in the city and upon hearing about the accident she came to call.

Having been up and around for about a week, I was one day called upon by Allan Weithman, a supersalesman who was selling everything from shoestrings to elephants. When he left I didn't have room to even turn around for everything was full of articles. These salesmen!

If you ever have been bedfast and let yourself "go" as they say, you will know what I mean when I looked in that mirror and saw myself. Horrors! I rushed to the phone and telephoned Virginia Ann's Shoppe. Virginia Riedel has been out of beauty school for quite some time and is running a thriving business. When I came from her shop I felt like a new woman.

Feeling in the need for a brush-up in the educational line I decided to take a lark by visiting the elementary grades. I resolved to first visit the kindergarten and see what they were teaching these young small fry. Here I found Mary Alice Schill who seemed to be having her problems. One small tyke had accidentally hit his neighbor and Mary Alice was trying to straighten matters out. In the elementary department I found Iola Schafstall. She, too, was having a few problems but from what I saw she seemed to have the upper hand.

Feeling adventuresome, I decided to take a plane trip to anywhere. Upon boarding the plane my eyes caught sight of a very welcome figure. There was Margaret Wechter who had always said she would someday be an air hostess.

As I came down for a forced landing on account of the terrible weather, I found myself to be in the big city of New York. Well, as long as I would be detained for a while anyway, I decided to go in search of some type of entertainment in order to pass my time more quickly. I made my way through the large swarms of people into Macy's Department Store and headed for the second floor where the latest styles were being shown. I looked at the program and saw that today a preview of the latest types of underclothing were being shown. I was a little sorry that I had bothered to come at all—but when I saw the models! And one of them happened to be one of New Washington's own home town girls! Yes—none other than Miss Mary Dow. She looked very lovely modeling in her red flannels!

Having made my way down the street once more, I happened to notice how clean the streets were kept for such a large city. However, on being informed that my old pal Doris Ankney was now at the head of the street cleaning commission, I at once realized why they were so clean.

As it was time again for presidential elections, I noticed various posters pasted on the store windows around the city. But the funny thing about them was that somehow something seemed familiar about them. Hence I took time out for a second glance and noticed much to my surprise that one of my former classmates by the name of Mary Eckstein, organizer of the fourth party, was now running for president. Well, I certainly do wish her the best of success! Of course some of her success in the political campaign is accredited to her very capable private secretary, Doris Green, who has managed very well with the publicity.

Seeing that the weather was once more perfect for traveling again, I quickly ascended to the top floor of the Empire State Building, unfolded my magic carpet, climbed aboard, and once more gave it my command to carry me off—this time back to my old home town. Upon making a very rough landing near the school, I quickly pulled myself together and made my way up the school steps to the door. On seeing the whole school lit up, I supposed that a dance or some social function was going on. Just as I supposed—a square dance was in progress! The dance certainly did seem to be a big success—but no wonder, with such a wonderful square dance caller as Alice Alt.

Only being able to remain for a few sets of dancing, I made my way out to get my coat and while passing the school office, who should I meet but Mary Ann Durnwald. She told me that she was now school secretary and that she had to be working tonight because the students pestered her too much throughout the day so that she was not able to complete her work. While renewing acquaintances with her I naturally inquired about some of the rest of my former classmates, whereupon she told me that they were all doing very well for themselves. Madame Lorraine Kessler with her famous beauty salon, Donald Bordner now as the head of the Brass Works, Helena Kreim as vice president of the New Washington Equity, to say nothing of the successful Flying Farmers' Union organized by Alice Kehres and Carl Kehres incorporated. These farmers must really have modern ideas lately! Edward Weithman was now building huge buildings, the latest being a mansion for the Honorable Robert Springer who had gained a fortune from his experiments with soy beans. Bonnie Rahm was now a modest little housewife, Annabel Niedermier was the owner of the Egg Auction and Harold Osborn was now aboard his ship in the Atlantic.

I was naturally overwhelmed with joy upon hearing about most of my former pals in just a short time. This would save me a lot of time for I was soon due to go back again to my old job. However, certainly I hadn't heard about everyone. Trying to concentrate very hard on the matter of whom I had not yet heard from, I began to walk slowly down the street until I stood directly in front of a newly constructed garage. And what to my surprise should I read on the sign in front but: Jeanette Karl, Proprietor—Authorized Chevrolet Dealer.

Only five more minutes and I would have to start back on my journey and what could I do in the meantime? Well, it didn't take me long to find out for I soon recognized something familiar about the name card on the front of the house at which I had arrived. Now where had I seen the name of Mr. Louis Lynch before? There being only one way to find out, I knocked at the door, only to be greeted by Mrs. Lynch, the former Rita Laux. Now I know why the name seemed so familiar to me!

Upon my return home, I naturally wanted to know whether I had received any mail. Our mail carrier is Joe Millenbaugh and one can certainly count on him. You see, he got quite a bit of practice as mail carrier at dear old D. H. S.

Well, I must put the magic carpet away until some other day when I am feeling in the need for adventure and a report on all my old classmates.

SENIOR CLASS WILL

We, the Seniors of N. W. H. S.
Of unsound mind do address
This Class Will to you,
As our parting words, so wise and true.
Unto the Junior Class we leave our title
And Juniors, whether ambitious or idle,
Do your best—do it good,
And your title of Seniors will be as it should.

Joan wills her study hall seat today
To Jerry who uses it anyway.
The dimples of Mary Ann will become
The youthful face of Eldie Young.
The pretty curls of our boy Cots
Go to Dekes High if he combs them a lot.
To Marilyn, Bob wills his varsity sweater,
Because on her he thinks it looks better.

Patsy Pauly wills her lilting laughter
To Bernita Koepfer to cherish hereafter.
Alice Schill leaves her flirting way
For Helen to use so Lauren don't stray.

Allan leaves his motor scooter
To be used for transporting Charlie Studer.
Iola wills her ready smile
So Lila can use it once in a while.

Ozzie wills Tubby his big sedan
To be overhauled, lubricated, and kept spic and span.

Blondie wills her horse so frisky
To be used by George. Beware, it's risky!

The diamonds of Bonnie, Rita, and Fay
Will, for this banquet, surely pay.
Margaret leaves her locks of raven hue
So Garland can charm a man or two.

Mary wills her ability to say
"It's really nothing" to Anna Mae.
Mary Ellen wills her flashing dark eyes
To Alice Studer in hope they're the right size.

Fern wills her yen for men tall and strong
To Janice Studer to help her along.

The giggles of Alice Alt we will
To Ralph Wurm who's so quiet and still.

Doris Ankney wills her pretty complexion
To Bobby Jacob for old maid protection.
Lorraine leaves her ability to jitterbug
To help Keith Clawson cut a rug.

Genny leaves her appealing line
To get results for Earl Pine.

John wills his luck in basketball
To put Pete on the team next fall.

Ginny Bechtel leaves her manner so mild
To Paul Gies, the junior problem child.
Lois leaves Alice Dow a mystery,
On how to get an "A" in history.

We generously leave Eddie's manly physique

To Lee Geissman on account of he seems so weak.

To Roger and Tony we leave this warning
Don't come to classes too late in the morning.

The quietness of Marcella we will
In a final effort to keep Skip still.
Ginny Riedel wills Katie her vim and vigor
Hoping it doesn't keep her from getting bigger.

Tootsie leaves her sultry voice
So Dorothy can charm the man of her choice.

Alice Kehres wills her beauty and curls
To be shared by all the junior girls.

Doris Green leaves her speed on the gym floor

So Mary Weithman can "raise that score."
Donald Bordner leaves his brightest sweater

To be adorned by Justine's cheerleading letter.

Mary Eckstein leaves her daintiness
To Carl Geiger who can use it best.

Ginny leaves with all her grace
Her hair to match shy Hubert's face.

We leave to Bertha the rent that's due
From seniors who used the office, too.

Helen Kraft leaves her love for fun
To keep a smile on Miriam.

The senior boys leave their manly ways
To help Albert Miller through his senior days.

Janet leaves Lauren her Chevrolet
Don't get excited; it's just for today.

The darkness of Joe will always be ready
If ever Inez cares to look like Hedy.
To Joan, Annie leaves her chemical knowledge

To help her if she goes to college.

To Mr. Wisheart we leave some cheer
To help him through the coming year.

To Mrs. Fry goes a fashion book
So she can keep on with her charming
"new look."

We leave Mr. Cummins our ability to say
"Help! It exploded! Get out of the way!"

We leave Miss Loyer a few sopranos
Instead of ten basses—we simply don't have those.

We leave Miss French our thanks sincere
For helping us through our toughest year.
Here's thanks to Mr. Wurm for that excuse from phys. ed.

So we could write the will instead.

To Mr. Barrington, our superintendent,
To the rest of you teachers, too,
All that we are—all that we'll be
We owe some thanks to you.

Witnessed and sealed this 5th day of May,
1948.

Classes

Top Row:

Jerome Alt—Since his last name begins with A,
He always has the front seat to his dismay.
John Burger—John has dimples in his cheeks,
In his smile he reaches the peak.
Keith Clawson—Blonde is the color of his hair,
Something to make all girls stare.
Alice Dow—Alice never haughty, never proud,
She's popular in every crowd.
Dorothy Eckstein—Music is her favorite hobby,
She should appear on Hobby Lobby.

Second Row:

Marilyn Eckstein—Always laughing, always gay,
You'll always find Marilyn this way.
Lauren Ehrman—Lauren is always very sure,
He thinks he'll always be secure.
Garland Evans—If you see Garland always in step
It's because she was a majorette.
Carl Geiger—Among the girls he is shy,
Won't the boys please tell me why?
Paul Gies—Paul is always smiling and never blue,
He is a friend that is quite true.

Sponsor	Eugene Wurm

On a bright September morning in 1945 a group of approximately thirty-three excited boys and girls from the three different schools made the day memorable by introducing a new class, commonly known as Freshmen, to our school. We were initiated and became official members of the high school. During the year we got acquainted with the various activities and parties and had two of our own—one was a hayride at the home of Joan Springer and the other was held at the home of Alice Dow. As the year went on we showed signs of owning some very capable athletes. The music department was also given a boost by our class. This truly was a happy year and we as a class were looking forward to many more such years!

In our sophomore year things got off to a good start when Joan Springer was crowned "Corn Queen of 1946." The whole class was justly proud of her since it was the first time anyone from N. W. H. S. was given this honor. Our promising athletes made more progress, but the boys were not the only ones who were active in sports. Several of the girls were kept busy with basketball, softball, and even track. Of course we couldn't let the year go by without a party or two so we had one in the fall at the home of Lauren Ehrman and a skating party in the spring.

First on the list of special events in our junior year was the class play, "Just Ducky," directed by Mrs. Fry. On December 30 we held our Junior Dance. As the year went on about ten of our members were made members of the Honor Society. Our athletes were once again on the job and they helped to score many victories for dear old Dutchtown. The class did not neglect to do its part in the musical organizations, and several members of the class were cast in leading roles in the operetta. We also looked forward to the banquet in the spring which is one of the most important events in the lives of juniors.

These are the highlights of our three years in high school. Three years ago on that red letter day in September we looked forward to our high school life, just as we now look forward to our goal—Seniors!

Third Row:

Lee Charles Geissman—A minute he just can't be still,
To tease everyone gives him a thrill.
Kathryn Green—A tiny girl always wearing a smile,
A small lass, but always worthwhile.
Inez Heydinger—Inez is blond and very kind,
A better companion, you'll never find.
Rodney High—Rodney is a very good athlete,
And one of many who was hard to defeat.
Ruth Jacob—Bobby is really a lot of fun,
But when she's angry, you'd better run.

Fourth Row:

Miriam Karl—She has natural curly hair,
And her complexion and looks are fair.
Leonard Kehres—Leonard is always on the go,
If he keeps it up, he'll never be slow.
John Kessler—Tony never has much to say,
But when he does, he's always gay.
Bernita Koepfer—She is called by the nickname "Pete,"
And her school work is always complete.
George Kraft—George is heard here, George is heard there,
Without his noise the halls would be bare.

Fifth Row:

Helen Kraft—All her friends like her well,
A wonderful girl you can easily tell.
Lila Niedermier—Lila never makes a sound,
A quieter girl we've never found.
Earl Pine—A boy whom we've never found,
Making any noise when teacher's around.
Justine Schafstall—A cheerleader and quite good at that,
With her, it's very nice to chat.
Hubert Snay—His winning smile is just on time,
A good nickname would be "Sunshine."

Sixth Row:

Helen Springer—Helen is simple and sweet,
And a lot of people she likes to meet.
Joan Springer—To every one a smile she brings,
When with her mellow voice she sings.
Alice Studer—As typist she rates number one,
In being so she finds much fun.
Janice Studer—With a group of girls she was always found,
But to get to classes on time, she's never around.
Roger Studer—Although Roger seems shy,
Don't let him fool you, he'll get by.

Seventh Row:

Anna Mae Wechter—A girl who has plenty of strength and strife
Who tries to conquer her ambitious life.
Mary Weithman—Here's one who is really grand,
She'll always give you a helping hand.
Ralph Wurm—A trumpet, Ralph likes to play,
And plays it well, we all do say.
Eldon Young—As a chemist Eldon would do fine,
There aren't so many in that line.
Charles Studer—To chew his gum every day,
Is his hobby we might say.

Absent:

Paul Kaple—Basketball Paul does play,
He's very good we all must say.
Albert Miller—A quiet air he does possess,
Just by looking one could guess.

Top Row:

Darhl Ankney—By next year he'll be a star,

In sports we know he will go far.

James Barth—Jimmie is certain in life to succeed,

Because he is so hard to exceed.

Connie Bishop—Connie is liked by many,

Her worries are few, if any.

Robert Bishop—You may think that Robert is quiet

But it takes him to start a riot.

Carolyn Clawson—Carolyn is never very blue,

She always has a smile or two.

Second Row:

Ruth Cramer—Ruth is tall and sort of thin,

But many friends she'll always win.

Virgil Cramer—A gentleman Virgil will always be,

Just look at him and you will see.

Richard Dallas—Richard's been known as quite a romancer

And all the girls think he's a wonderful dancer

Eugene Durnwald—Eugene is a quiet little lad

Always in a good mood—never sad.

Eyleen Eckstein—She is peppy and lots of fun,

But her schoolwork was always done.

SOPHOMORE CLASS HISTORY

President	Eyleen Eckstein
Vice President	Rosanna Yosick
Secretary	James Barth
Treasurer	Eugene Durnwald
Student Council	Darhl Ankney, Connie Bishop
Sponsor	Mrs. Maxine Fry

In the year 1946, twenty-eight hopeful but hapless freshmen seated themselves quietly in their appointed seats and looked sheepishly about them. This shyness, however, was soon gone and they took their places with the rest of the school and elected their leaders for the year as follows: Darhl Ankney, president; Charles Kap-le, vice president; Muryl Striker, secretary; Robert Bishop, treasurer; Jeanette Fisher and Wayne Ehrman, student council representatives.

However, before seniors will even recognize freshmen, they must pass certain tests known as initiation. On the appointed night they came in their true form—dressed as babies. They did survive this night, however, and continued the rest of the year as full-fledged high school members.

Upon reassembling this year the now arrogant sophomores had diminished to 25, but a new member, Rosanna Yosick, flitted into their midst. Among the outstanding events of the year was a class party held at the home of Jeannette Fisher and the annual choosing of the maids and butlers for the Junior-Senior Banquet.

Third Row:

Patty Eckstein—Patty is sweet and very petite,
Also her smile couldn't be beat.
Wayne Ehrman—In the classrooms or by the lockers,
Wayne is one of the continual talkers.
Jeannette Fisher—Whenever you meet her in the hall,
She has a smile for one and all.
Alfred Heydinger—So quiet is he when first you meet
Then you change you mind when again you meet.
Phyllis Kahler—Her manners and her pleasantness,
Will always bring others happiness.

Fourth Row:

Gerald Karl—Although Buzz is a little short,
He happens to be a very good sport.
Louise Kehres—She likes the game of basketball
And very seldom you'll see her fall.
Rebecca Kessler—"Becky" is always on the go
In spirits she is never low.
Esther Maul—A girl you'd like to meet face to face,
She certainly has a lot of grace.
Gertrude Niedermier—A cheery look, a friendly smile,
Gertie displays them all the while.

Fifth Row:

Ruth Pine—All Ruth's friends on her can lean,
Her disposition's as smooth as cream.
Robert Slayton—Handsome is he, with light, wavy hair
An answer is Jerry to a maiden's prayer.
Muryl Striker—Muryl is a boy of many desires,
But music is the one he acquires.
Rosanna Yosick—A girl who likes to talk to all the boys
But excels mostly in making noise.

Top Row:

Jacob Ackerman—Jackie is liked by many,

His worries are few if any.

Barbara Augustus—Barbara is a charming lass,

She's always happy in her class.

Wilma Cleland—Always on hand if someone should call,
Her laughter echoes through the hall.

Franklin Fisher—"Itchy" is a loquacious boy,

But very few he does annoy.

Donald Gies—Donald is always very gay,
At all times he likes to play.

On September 2, 1947, we were welcomed into the school. Our first big event was initiation day, on which we had to wear signs during school and had to come in the evening in outfits which represented skirts and trousers. After performing many and varied stunts, we were treated by the seniors to a free movie and lunch.

We have enjoyed our first year in high school and many of us have taken part in most of the activities, including glee club, orchestra, band, basketball, baseball and track. We plan to do our part during the next three years to keep these organizations active and worth while.

Second Row:

Robert Grove—A tall lad with dark hair,
With no one else does he compare.
Wayne Hassler—Wayne has hair that's curly and dark,
Around him the girls all park.
Carl Hertzner—Carl is a friend quite true,
You'll very seldom find him blue.
Harriette Heydinger—Full of smiles and jokes is she,
Wherever she goes her friends will be.
Kenneth Heydinger—Kenny tries to be friends with all,
We hope his friendliness will never fall.

Third Row:

Robert Kanney—Robert is a peppy lad,
That is why he's never sad.
Marcene Kaple—With hair of yellow and looking bright,
Marcene is always a pleasing sight.
Charles Kehres—Trouble is his middle name,
And that is how he achieved his fame.
Florin Kraft—Schoolwork he does like,
As a student he's very bright.
Phyllis Kraft—Phyllis is a pretty lass you see,
Wherever she goes the boys will be.

Fourth Row:

Joan Laux—Never in work is she behind,
She always keeps this in mind.
Janice McCarthy—In class quiet she likes to be,
Nothing could be better one could see.
Joseph McCarthy—Joe is a quiet lad,
But in looks he's not so bad.
Roy Mason—Roy is a boy who never frets,
If he has to work he never forgets.
Randall Meyers—"Rand" is always on his toes,
There's always noise wherever he goes.

Fifth Row:

Lillian Millenbaugh—You may think that Lilly is quiet,
But it takes her to start a riot.
Mary Lou Peck—Black is Mary Lou's hair,
Mostly a red bow she does wear.
Jane Ellen Schwemley—Her hair is always fixed in place,
Makes a fine framework for her face.
Weldon Shealy—"Freckles" always got the blame,
For teasing girls is his name.
Robert Shell—Robert is always on the go,
In spirits he is never low.

Sixth Row:

Orlo Strohm—He was so peppy and full of vim,
Nothing about him was very grim.
Clarence Studer—Red is the color of his face,
Because blushing is something he can't erase.
Beatrice Wechter—All her friends like her well,
A wonderful girl you can easily tell.
Mary Ann Wechter—A sweet personality, she does no one harm,
Always so helpful, she's full of charm.
June White—June does have pretty eyes,
To please her friends she always tries.

Last Row:

James Yanka—Jimmy's a boy scout always in need,
Because he is looking for his daily good deed.
Gwendolyn Zaebst—Her pretty dimples when she smiles,
Can be seen for many miles.

Band

Our school band's major task this year was playing at basketball games for which the members should be commended for their excellent formations of letters representing the different schools in the county. Although there were a great many new members in the band, the spirit in which the pieces were played was well worth the time spent. Some of the selections which you heard the band play this year were American Eagle March, Jingle Bells, School Spirit, and The Iron King.

The members of the band are:

Flute: Jane Ellen Schwemley.
 Clarinet I: Rodney High, Joan Springer, Iola Schafstall, Mary Dow.
 Clarinet II: Genevieve Tobin, Ruth Jacob, Justine Schafstall, Gwendolyn Zaebst.
 C Melody Sax: Jean Springer.
 Eb Alto Sax: Helen Springer, Constance Bishop, Garland Evans.
 Trumpet I: Wayne Hassler, Ralph Wurm, Jacob Ackerman.

Trumpet II: James Gardner, Tommy Nye.
 Trumpet III: Edward Michener, James Patterson.
 Trombone: Arthur Hieber.
 Tuba: Florin Kraft.
 Baritone: Lauren Ehrman.
 Trombonium: James Barth.
 Snare Drums: Rebecca Kessler, Gene Kraft.
 Bass Drum: Rosanna Yosick.
 Cymbals: Gertrude Niedermier.

The Orchestra

When school reopened in September the orchestra resumed practice. It was composed of the old members and a host of youthful new players. As practicing continued the members learned a number of new selections and have played for the annual meeting of the members of the North Central Egg Auction, the senior play, and commencement exercises.

The members of the orchestra:

First Violin: Genevieve Tobin, Virginia Suver, Justine Schafstall, Marilyn Eckstein, Alice Dow.
 Second Violin: Patty Eckstein, Robert Springer, Fay Nye.
 First Cello: Joan Springer.
 First Clarinet: Rodney High, Iola Schafstall, Mary Dow.
 Second Clarinet: Bobby Jacob, Gwendolyn Zaebst.

A Cappella Choir

In the school term of 46-47 the choir procured their first robes by soliciting from the townspeople. This year the a cappella choir displayed these maroon robes with dignity at their Christmas program "Carols of Many Lands" which was considered a highlight of the year. Music for the baccalaureate service was also furnished by the choir under the able direction of Miss Freda Loyer.

Soprano I—Virginia Bechtel, Joan Cleland, Alice Dow, Dorothy Eckstein, Mary Ellen Karl, Justine Schafstall, Joan Springer, Janice Studer, Genevieve Tobin.

Soprano II—Constance Bishop, Mary Dow, Marilyn Eckstein, Rita Laux, Gertrude Niedermier, Virginia Riedel.

The Honor Club of the New Washington High School was organized to promote scholarship and participation in extra-curricular activities. In order to become a member a pupil must acquire a certain number of points. Membership is open to juniors and seniors.

Two social events are sponsored during the year. In the early spring the old members are hosts to the incoming members at a dinner, and later a dance is sponsored by the club in the school auditorium.

Baseball

The first day of baseball practice 35 enthusiastic players reported to Coach Eugene Wurm on the school lawn since we had no diamond. This inconvenience caused us to play all our games on opponents' diamonds.

Three seniors gained starting positions—Ed Weithman, catcher; Carl Kehres, pitcher and outfielder; and John Barnhart, infielder. Four juniors—High, first base; L. Ehrman, pitcher and outfielder; Kaple, infielder; and Burger. Sophomores and freshmen include Ackerman, Ankney, Dallas, Durnwald, Hertzers, outfielders; W. Ehrman, Karl, Barth, infielders; and Striker, catcher.

We didn't do too good, losing six while winning only two. Next year we hope to have a better team since all but the three seniors will report for practice.

Basketball

The outlook for a successful basketball season looked fairly bright when Coach Wurm issued his call for practice last October. Four varsity lettermen were back with thirty other hopeful candidates. It then became necessary to cut the size of the squad to twenty players and so a number of boys were taken into intra-mural basketball.

Our team seemed to be bothered by an "away-from-home" jinx during the whole season, winning but two games on opponents' floors; however, on the home court our boys were almost unbeatable suffering only one defeat, that one in an overtime period to Attica.
